

What is the "open access publishing guarantee"?

Articles by authors affiliated with S2O subscribing institutions will be published open access in an S2O journal even if the S2O target is not reached. Authors affiliated with an institution that has an "All-Inclusive Package" subscription can publish open access in any S2O journal.

The author will need to select their institution from the subscriber list when submitting.

Please refer to the below steps.

The screenshot displays the ASM Author Center interface. At the top, a banner features the text "ASM Journals Are the Most Prominent Publications in the Field" and a "PUBLISH WITH ASM" button. Below the banner, four statistics are presented: 98% Research Articles Cited within Two Years of Publication, 44% ASM Journal Citations as % of All Microbiology, 33 Average Days in Review, and 80M+ Total Annual HTML + PDF Usage. The main content area is titled "ASM Author Center" and contains six navigation cards: "Why Publish with ASM?", "Submitting" (highlighted with a red border), "Transferring", "Open Access", "Accepted Papers", and "Editorial Policies". Each card includes an icon, a brief description, and a "READ MORE" link. A "SEE ALL" button is located at the bottom of the navigation grid.

For your initial submission to any ASM journal, the ASM ChronosHub submission portal is the starting point. Depending on the journal, you may complete your submission in the ChronosHub submission portal or be redirected to the eJournalPress (eJP) peer review system to complete your submission there.

The ChronosHub portal is ASM's platform for initial manuscript submissions only. Authors must use the ASM eJP peer review system to submit revisions and resubmissions.

Links to each submission site appear below.

Know Before You Submit

- ASM does not charge a submission fee.
- ASM requires corresponding authors to provide an ORCID ID during the submission process. You can register for an ORCID ID if you do not have one.
- Login credentials for the ASM ChronosHub submission portal, the eJP peer review system, and ASM membership are established and maintained separately.
- Authors can find technical assistance and system tips in the ChronosHub FAQs and on the "Help for Authors" page of each ASM eJP peer review system journal site.

Journal	Submission Stage
